We would like to inform you about some of our recent successful projects.

In the following we will present examples of our work. If you have questions or if you are interested in common projects we would appreciate to hear from you.

We look forward to answering all of your questions gratuitously.

Schoolmate®

The different kind of private coaching. At six locations Schoolmate is offering private lessons based on the newest experiences in learning.

As a full service agency we developed the corporate design, created their flyers, brochures, homepage and the advertising.

We consult Schoolmate creating its public relations concepts and their advertisement campaigns.

AMOS

The engineering and static company Amos sets a high value on the demand at it's own work and the quality of the results. This mindset had to be visualised.

In order to achieve this, we created a very individual solution for the corporate design that is rather untypical for this branch.

The homepage and the business equipment of Amos are designed to highlight the uniqueness of the offering. Also the distinctive pictures and other features like the quality of the business paper underline this asset.

VMA Getzmann

As a worldwide operating company with representations in Europe, Asia, Australia and the United States, VMA Getzmann needed a professional business communication that was globally understandable and not limited to any cultural barrier.

We achieved this by developing an intuitively understandable design. The acceptance was so outstanding that VMA Getzmann decided to publish its brochures and flyers in four different languages.

Another milestone was the realisation of an image film that is used for client acquisitions and is shown on fairs – meanwhile in the third edition.

FysioFit

The FysioFit company is a practice for physical, sport and pain therapy. One of its assets is a holistic approach of therapeutic treatment.

It is a great pleasure for us and we really enjoy helping this excellent and inspiring team to bring new ideas to life over and over again.

By the time we created an extensive internet information platform and a variety of flyers, posters, brochures and concepts.

Talentino

Talentino has dedicated its work to the encouragement of children. With the help of Talentino highly gifted children find the support they need.

In order to publicize the work of this initiative we designed an awareness-campaign with a variety of flyers, posters and other media.

Special attention was put on the selection of pictures used in the campaign. Children and parents shall identify themselves with the goals and methodologies of Talentino.
